Firemen Answer First 1960 Call

City firemen answered their first call of the New Year Tuesday afternoon when a truck was called to a small house in the 500 block of East Gillis St.

The fire started when some smoking on a stove caught fire, Fire Marshall John Eanes said. No estimate of damage was made, but considerable smoke filled the house.

He said in the meeting last week that people who do not intend to break laws but who violate safe - driving regulations fail to recognize the legality of modern means of traffic control.

He said the number of traffic deaths would decrease as attitudes improve toward traffic enforcement.

Patrolman Bill Cooksey, of the Department of Public Safety, addressed members of the Cameron CYO on the need of driver education and change of attitude toward traffic enforcement.

Group To Study Spread Of Rabies

County officials from Bell, Falls, Milam and Robertson Counties have been invited to a meeting Monday at Rosebud to discuss a spreading epidemic of rabies in this area.

Maurice Malchik, mayor of Rosebud, called County Judge Don G. Humble Wednesday morning to invite county officials to meet with representatives of the State Health Dept. about the problem.

Dr. Robert Tittsworth, Cameron veterinarian, has reported a number of cases of rabies transmitted to cattle from rabid foxes and skunks.

He told The Herald that five cases of rabid animals have been diagnosed in Milam County through December, January. And he knew of several animals thought rabid, but not tested in state laboratories for positive proof.

State Health Dept. officials proclaim a rabies epidemic area when the number of reported cases in any month is twice the number of the same month a year before.

High incidence of rabid animals has been reported in all four counties.

Humble said state health officials will explain in detail the problem and what steps can be taken if county officials see the need of declaring their counties in epidemic conditions.

Rabies are often carried by bats, rodents, skunks and foxes. Dr. Tittsworth has reported several cases of rabid skunks and foxes.

1959 Rainfall Totals 29.94, Report Shows

Rain continued to fall in the Milam area Wednesday as farmers hoped for clearer skies and drier weather.

Rainfall for the year up to January 12 totaled .62 of an inch, official city data showed.

The weather forecast for today was continued mild temperatures and possible scattered showers, the weatherman says.

Meanwhile, Milam Countians looked back on 1959 as a generally drier year than in 1958.

Rainfall total for 1959 was 29.94 inches, about five inches off the average yearly rainfall and about five inches under the 1958 total.

Winter rains have soaked county fields and kept county farmers out of the field.

But grassland is growing well and cattle grazing is favorable.

The water table continued to remain high with steady, but light rains during the past few weeks.

Farmers were hoping that rains would subside so that preparation for planting crops can get underway.

The winter rains indicated that ground moisture would be more than adequate for early spring planting unless a sudden dry spell settles in the Central Texas area.

Rainfall for the past three years has averaged about 35 inches per year up to 1959. But moisture was generally adequate throughout the past year.

Too Much Mistletoe Can Damage A Tree

Does mistletoe kill trees? For many years people have been asking this question. The latest work from Harlan E. Smith, extension plant pathologist, is that a few mistletoe plants growing on a large healthy tree probably will do little damage.

However, he notes, when these plants become too numerous, they should be removed, especially from valuable ornamental trees. Mistletoe, he explained, is a parasitic flowering plant with small flowers and white berries and is frequently seen growing on limbs of such trees as hackberry, osage orange, oak, elm and mesquite. It obtains water from the tree upon which it grows and may weaken or even kill the tree, especially when numerous.

It can be rapidly pruned out with a saw or knife or can be broken off with a hook fastened to the end of a pole. Later, new mistletoe sprouts may arise from the point where the original plant was attached and these should likewise be removed. Smith says at present no chemicals are available to use in the control or removal of the parasites.

Linear Programming Will Be Topic For FB Meeting

J. D. Moore, County Agent
The program committee of the Milam County Farm Bureau, headed by Mrs. S. W. McClaren, and the Cameron Chamber of Commerce Livestock Committee, headed by O. A. White, are co-sponsoring a county wide meeting planned for the night of January 21, beginning at 7:30 at the Cameron Commission Company here in Cameron.

Guest speakers are Cecil Parker and Lloyd Bergsma of the Texas A&M Extension Service. Parker will discuss Linear Programming and Bergsma will discuss Livestock Marketing.

Linear Programming is a new approach to farm planning and should be of interest to business men as well as all farm and ranch families. The meeting is open to the public and everyone has a cordial invitation to attend. Refreshments will be served by the county Farm Bureau and the Chamber of Commerce Livestock Committee.

Prices Will Decline

Average prices received by farmers during 1960 will show a further slight decline while costs of farm production and marketing will continue to rise, says John G. McHaney, extension economist.

"The repairman I called in the Want Ads said it was too early in the season for snow!"

4-H Club Notes

By Robert W. Hoerman

Barbara and Patricia McClaren have been grooming their calves for the Milam County Livestock Show, which will be held January 23, on the Courthouse square in Cameron.

Trimming the calves hooves and the many baths before the show are what it takes to have winning animals.

Jeanette Richter has controlled the grub on her Hereford steer and heifer by using five percent rotenone to 2 pounds of heavy nonalkaline dust diluent. Grubs have been exceptionally bad this year and treatment should be prompt.

4-H members interested in feeding broilers for the Cameron Chamber of Commerce Broiler Show should leave their names, address and sex of chicks they would like to receive at the county agents office.

Confirmation has been received for the following Calf Scramble participants at the Houston Fat Stock Show, February 27, 1960: Charles Yount, 1:00 p. m. Beef Calf Scramble; Douglas McFarland, 6:45 p. m., Dairy Calf Scramble; Roy Dean Tomasek, 6:45 p. m., Dairy Calf Scramble and Wayne Moraw.

Mr. and Mrs. Von Hickman and son Ronald Dean of Houston were weekend guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Hickman and Mr. and Mrs. Milton Weems of Belton.

1 p.m. Beef Calf Scramble alternate.

John Batte, Manager Milam County Junior Livestock Show, has called a meeting for January 18, 7:30 p. m., at the Livestock Auction Building.

All exhibitors and the public are invited to attend the meeting. Final plans will be made for the Junior Livestock Show to be held January 23 on the Courthouse square in Cameron.

Control Winter Weeds In Lawn

J. D. Moore, County Agent

A vigorous turf is the best control for weeds. Weeds and weedy grasses usually are not a problem when a well-adapted lawn grass is properly established, fertilized, mowed and watered. A thin, weak stand of grass will be invaded by weeds. Killing weeds with chemicals will not keep them out unless followed by lawn management practices that encourage the grass to grow vigorously enough to compete with weeds.

Choosing the right grass is important, because lawn grasses differ in their ability to keep out weeds. Vigorous St. Augustine chokes out most weeds during the growing season. Even winter weeds have little chance to grow in a dense turf of this grass. Summer weeds are not too troublesome in a thrifty turf of Bermuda, but winter weeds are often a problem.

Most common winter weeds occurring in lawns now are Bur Clover, Henbit, Dichondra (pony foot), green asters and others. Chemicals should be applied when weeds are young, tender and are making vigorous growth and before seed are formed. Most winter weeds are in this stage of growth now. Chemicals to control upright or semiprostrate annual weeds, such as bur clover, henbit, rescue grass, etc. should be applied when the weeds are no taller than 3 in. If taller, they should be mowed closely and the chemical applied after 3 or 4 days growth.

TREATMENTS

Endothal: for easy - to - kill, broadleaved weeds such as bur clover and henbit, use 4 to 5 tablespoons of endothal per gallon of water. For grass - type weeds, such as rescuegrass and rye - grass, use 6 to 7 tablespoons of endothal per gallon of water. Use 1 teaspoon of liquid household detergent or commercial wetting agent, or use 3 tablespoons of dry household detergent per gallon of endothal - water mixture.

Apply the mixture as a broadcast spray until the leaves and stems of weeds are wet. For harder to kill weeds use 2, 4-D mixture. For further details on chemical weed control, ask for leaflet L-425 chemical weed control in lawns at your county agents office.

Commerical Fishing Best In Gulf Of Mexico Waters

By Vern Sanford

Most of us who like to sports fish give little thought to the tremendous value of commercial fishing.

In fact, most of us who fish with rod and reel seem to forget that for more people eat fish than catch them.

Commercial fishing is nothing new. Simon Peter was a commercial fisherman. Ever since that time they have been a necessary part of our existence.

Commercial fishing in the United States is a tremendous business. Last year we marked more than $1,700,000,000 in commercial fish.

According to the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service the domestic catch of fish was 4.72 billion pounds, a decrease of 62 million pounds. But the value to the fishermen was a record $370,000,000, an increase of $19,000,000 over the previous year.

Average per capita consumption of fish last year was 16.4 pounds. Of course, this represents commercial fish, but actually the average might not be much different from the consumption by the sports fisherman.

It is significant that 53 per cent of last year's commercial catch came from the Atlantic seaboard, which includes the Gulf of Mexico.

Also it is significant to note that Pascagoula, Mississippi, reported the processing of 164 million pounds of menhaden and other industrial fish. These were all caught in the Gulf of Mexico. And this means that commercial fishermen were beneficial in cleaning out a lot of undesirable fish.

Incidentally, we are glad that this industry is in Mississippi.

Smelly menhaden plants could ruin a lot of good recreational areas on our Texas coast.

Texas is making rapid strides in betterment of its commercial fishing conditions. In the first place the fishing industry has come to the realization that it must abide by certain manmade laws, or fall with the economic laws. They realize that unless reasonable controls are placed, the industry may soon die for the lack of fish.

Fortunately, the Texas Game and Fish Commission, during the last few years, has been making rapid strides in its coastal studies. Even with these constant studies on the part of our state commission, the Bureau of Fisheries, and the University Marine Institute, we still know so little about the real condition of the gulf waters and coast fishing.

Biologists constantly are at work mapping the movement of fish, studying their spawning and nesting grounds and attempting to learn more about their productive habits. It's a big job, and one that takes a lot of time and money.

Unfortunately there is considerable strife between commercial and sports fishing. Each has its place and neither can claim the exclusive right to fishing. But each must consider that certain laws of nature must be complied with if we are to continue to have fishing on our Texas coast.

We have been able to make much more progress in our inland fishing potential. Biologists are making rapid strides in their efforts to whip the rough fish situation.

In some places a complete kill is necessary before a lake can be cleaned and good fish restored. This was the case in the Rio Grande Valley not so long ago, when Llano Grande was given the works by a corps of Game & Fish Commission biologists. They went in with everything known to science and killed off the fish by the ton.

When the dead fish were gathered up they proved what the biologists already knew. The rough fish had taken over the impoundment. The took gars more than 6 feet long, carp, buffalo and other undesirable fish were there by the millions.

Only a handful of edible fish was taken from the water. This, despite the fact that frequent stockings had been made from state owned hatcheries.

Other lakes to receive treatments in Texas within the past year have indicated that better fishing results almost immediately.

Technical improvement of methods is making possible a better handling of the whole rough fish situation. Unfortunately it is impossible to disintegrate the undesirable from the desirable fish in any reasonable extent. The biologists have found that with certain strength chemical treatment they can kill off some of the rough fish. But they must hold down their dosage in order that they will not kill of the desirable fish.

Local clubs and authorities are cooperating in this inland program of curbing the rough fish and making fishing conditions better in their waters. As a result, sports fishermen are profiting.

And speaking of sports fishing, it has been picking up around Roll-over pass near Port Bolivar. The Game Commission has completed its cut through the peninsula and water now is flowing between the bay and the gulf.

There is fantastic fishing on both sides.

And for once, the highway department has recognized fishing. It has built a walkway on the side of the bridge across the pass so that fishermen won't be blocking traffic. Let's hope the engineers will do the same thing at Aransas Pass, where a new multi-million dollar causeway is being built.

Letter To The Editor

January 11, 1960

An editorial in the "Texas Agriculture" (official Farm Bureau publication) caught my eye this week in view of the recent confusion over the city's garbage ordinance requiring a compulsory service fee.

The article, written by Mrs. Bayne McCurry of Anton, Texas is as follows:

"I believe that there has never been a time in the history of America when there was a greater need or interested and informed citizens who are willing to give their time to tell others of the dangers which threaten our national security. Many of our generation are too busy, getting a higher education or establishing a home, to be concerned over world conditions. We need to realize that these things will amount to nothing if we suddenly find ourselves without liberty."

"As I study the forms of government which are contrary to mine, I realize that Communism is an ever-present, threatening foe, and I am afraid we might lose our freedom unless we do something soon."

"My freedom did not occur by accident; my forefathers made it happen and paid the price with blood, sweat and tears."

"Freedom and liberty are among the most precious words in any language. Liberty does not mean that I am free to do as I please regardless of how it affects others; it means I am free to carve my own destiny without a centralized government dictating my every move and controlling my very thoughts. I believe, and some one has said, 'There is nothing free about freedom, it is paid for by each individual and when we take it for granted, it is gone.'"

I have a tremendous stake in liberty as a member of the younger generation and as a mother. I must not take it lightly or think it will take care of itself. I must find out all the facts for myself not depending on hearsay. I must continue to read official publications, and pass them on to others. I must keep informed through radio, television and the press. I must continue to talk with friends, neighbors, and organized groups, telling them the truth. I must never cease studying proposed legislation, candidates' views, and casting my vote for that which I believe to be best."

"I have two small children and I realize the role of the home is very important; therefore I strive daily to instill the principles of good citizenship in them. In less than a year my son will begin his first year of school. I must support a sound educational program, teachers freedom, and text that truthfully explain the difference between our system of government and others."

The Bible teaches the worth of the individual and I believe that the government must continue to stand for the masses if we are to preserve our liberty. My God is a loving one. He intended for each soul to be free and live in peace. He expects my best and I owe it to Him myself and my country to give nothing less."

Mrs. McCurry's wisdom can be applied locally as well as on the national level.

And our new garbage disposal ordinance, considered good by some and not so good by others had one healthy sidelight — that of rousing the local citizenry out of their apathy toward city government — temporarily, at least.

Those who came to the city council

Year-End Review

TPL To Expand Program In 60

Texas Power & Light Company's plans for construction of new facilities, including preliminary work on a new generating station in North Texas, will cost approximately $20,000,000 in 1960, according to a statement issued by E. W. Lynch, president.

The company spent $16,000,000 in 1959 for construction, he said. A portion of this expenditure went into the recently completed Lake Creek Generating Station near Waco, and the remainder for building new power lines, new office buildings, substations and other facilities.

The new generating station in North Texas is to be built near Bonham and is scheduled for operation in 1962, unless there is need for this plant sooner, in which case the completion date could be moved up, Lynch stated.

Regarding the future, the executive pointed out that present plans call for facilities to supply double the 1959 system load of 768,000 kilowatts by 1965 when the TP&L Company plans to have a total capacity of 1,770,000 kilowatts. "Our plans anticipate electric power needs of this area as far as 20 years in the future," Lynch said. "We are continually studying possible future needs and at the same time planning installation of whatever power facilities will be required to supply those needs."

Lynch stated that a similar program of building and planning for future electric power needs is carried on by electric utility companies throughout the United States.

He pointed out that recent printed statements by public power advocates who had been to Russia were inferring that the U. S. would soon fall behind Russia in the production of electricity.

"This is far from the truth," he said. "Representatives of the industry report that there is no indication that the Russians will be able to catch up with the United States at any time in the foreseeable future."

The Russian goal calls for about 110 million kilowatts by 1965. In 1965, the U. S. is expected to have 245 million kilowatts, to lead Russia by more than 130 million kilowatts," he said.

The TP&L president added that these erroneous news releases are obviously aimed at conditioning people to accept and support more appropriations for government power projects.

He said the impression may be created that more government power projects are needed, despite the fact that investor-owned companies now have a 27 percent margin of reserve power, a record of no power shortages in the past, and no indication that there will be one in the future.

TP&L and ten other Texas electric utility companies are spending $5,000,000 on a four-year program of research of methods which may make possible the economical generation of electric power through controlled fusion energy.

This program was begun in 1957 with the General Atomic Division of General Dynamics Corporation. He added that TP&L Company is far along in the development of a lignite research program with a view to possibly using lignite as a fuel in the future.

The Soviet Strategy...

There is a coming awareness of the design of Soviet military strategy. It is based on their apparent belief that hydrogen power would not inevitably decide the fate of a global conflict.

A recent wire story reported that Soviet military planners put emphasis on other "terror" weapons to complement nuclear capabilities.

U. S. strategists are of the opinion that total destruction or an opponent is possible with nuclear attack by missile or airplane.

In keeping with Communist doctrine, Red militarists note in official publications that a final victor in World War III would have deeper resources in morale and determination. This fits the Communist's theory of the inevitable (again the word pops up) victory of Communism over other forms of government.

No one doubts the singleness of purpose of Russia or Red China. Everything their people read, hear or see is strained to fit the party line.

The party line has little control over the devastation of about 50 key Soviet cities if attacked by nuclear weapons, however. As American industry is centralized, Soviet production is generally confined to numbers of key manufacturing centers.

We recall an address by Congressman W. R. Poage in Cameron recently in which he cited the two kinds of Russian communities: the large city or rural hamlet. He was explicit in saying there are no middle-size cities ranging from 5,000 to 50,000. In the United States, the trend to decentralization is becoming an industrial movement from metropolitan areas to the medium and smaller cities of the nation. Industry for many reasons is making the change, more rapidly with each passing year.

The Soviet position serves as a propaganda device, probably, to cause mistrust of U. S. nuclear capabilities that apparently outstrip theirs. If they had nuclear weapons stockpiled, they would minimize the modern secondary means of combat: the foot soldier and manned aircraft. Our long suit is aircraft carrying hydrogen bombs. Theirs is missileery carrying dogs in orbit and sending shots to the moon.

Russia would have the United States disbelieve its own capabilities, regardless of whether we led in every department of modern rocketry and technical development. That is apparent in their rocket rattling in the Pacific area now.

Their real military secret is no secret at all. It is simply "divide and conquer." They would turn us around like so many spinning tops, then stop us without any possible sense of direction, our political balance twisted beyond a shadow of assurance in things American.

Thirty Minutes Warning Against Missile Attack Won't Be Enough

Dear editor:
I don't like to discourage scientists, especially space scientists, as some of their launching efforts have been discouraging enough without any help from me, but the latest idea from these people has left me pondering.

As I understand it, they're planning on launching some new type satellites equipped with a special sensing device which will warn the United States immediately if a guided missile is headed in our direction.

"This system will give the U. S. thirty minutes in which to prepare for a nuclear bombardment," it was announced, with the added explanation that thirty minutes is how long it takes a missile to get from some theoretical country, like Russia, to another theoretical country, like the United States.

The scientists seemed to think that these thirty minutes advance warning will be a great step forward in defense, but I'm afraid they're not familiar with the same kind of people I am.

Only thirty minutes advance warning would mean most of the teen - agers of America wouldn't have a chance. It takes em longer than that to get out of the bathroom to get em out of there nuclear bombardment would do it, but up to now nothing has been done to get em out of there that fast in the mornings.

Why I know some adults it takes more than thirty minutes to get out of bed on a cold morning. And it takes much longer than thirty minutes for some of em to come awake even after they're up.

And as for me starting my tractor or in thirty minutes on a cold morning .... those nuclear scientists just aren't familiar with working conditions around here.

I'll tell you, I appreciate those scientists' efforts, and I guess thirty minutes warning is better than none, but it seems to me that even if we had a half hour's warning, even if everybody hit the floor at the same time and teen - agers cut their bathroom time down to 60 seconds, that still might not be too much we could do about it, outside of wringing our hands and dodging.

What this country needs right now is a warning system that gives us three or four years to prepare for a nuclear attack.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Capitol Report

Poll Tax Deadline Due January 31

By Vern Sanford

AUSTIN — Most important date for the Texas voter this month is Jan. 31.

After that it will be too late to get a poll tax receipt that will enable him to participate in this year's merry - go - round of political events.

Since 1960 is a presidential election year, lines will probably be long on the night of the 31st. Safest course is to do it now.

This year's poll tax receipts, for the first time, have a place for the owner's party affiliation to be stamped. But the voter doesn't have to decide this when he pays the tax.

Decision is made when the holder casts his primary vote. A person who votes in the Democratic primary will have his receipt stamped "Democrat." That means he can't go to a Republican convention that evening.

Also, if he fails to go to the Democratic Primary to vote and doesn't have his receipt stamped at all, he can't get into a Democratic precinct convention, or precinct convention.

As far as the general election in November is concerned, the new party registration law apparently makes little difference. There would be no way for anyone to know whether the holder of a receipt stamp for one party voted that party's straight ticket in the general election.

BLANKETS STATE

First goal of the Johnson - for President organization in Texas has been reached.

Clubs have been organized in all 154 counties in the state, according to Director Larry Blackmon.

Goal was reached just about a month after the state headquarters was set up in Austin. In addition, there are about six other clubs in Texas and several out of state. Supporters of Sen. Lyndon Johnson are expected to keep the state lively during the coming months.

RELOCATION PAYMENTS UPHELD

City officials and private utilities are joyful over a State Supreme Court's decision that will save the cities and companies some $28,000,000.

High court ruled constitutional the law that provides for the state to reimburse cities and companies for the expense of moving building projects.

Law was passed by the Legislature in 1957. It was challenged by the Attorney General's Department on the grounds it violated the constitutional prohibition of "donating" public funds to private firms.

Austin, Dallas and four utility companies were combined in the test case. Their attorneys contended the reimbursement was simply payment for work done for the state.

Austin city officials called the decision "a lifesaver." It will save the city $500,000 on one project. Dallas County will save an estimated $9,000,000.

Ninety per cent of the money the state spends on the interstate highway system comes from the federal government.

TRAFFIC TOLL CUT

Texans were more careful than expected in their year - end travels.

Department of Public Safety predicted that 111 would be killed on the roads during the Christmas-New Year period. Tentative total is only 91. There may be more if some of those seriously injured do not recover.

Col. Homer Garrison, Jr., DPS director, thanked all the news organizations, official agencies and law enforcement officers who worked to make Texans safer.

20 Years Ago

The Cameron Herald gave an announcement of the award to be given to basketball champions of Milam County.

E. O. Schiller ran as a candidate for the re - election of city alderman.

Dan Tyson announced his candidacy for re - election for Secretary-Treasurer for the city of Cameron. The Yoe basketballers were in good shape this year. They won most of their games by a wide margin.

D&B Lists 392 Concerns In '60

Statistics released today by Robert C. Cushman, district manager of the Houston office of Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., show 392 manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers in the Milam area.

The Reference Book, only lists manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers. It does not include some of the service and professional businesses such as barber and beauty shops, stock and real estate brokers. The figure for businesses in Milam County would actually be higher than 392 quoted above.

The Reference Book contains approximately three million business listings for over 50,000 communities in the United States. It is published every 60 days to keep listings current. During the past sixty days nearly 70,000 new names were added and nearly 65,000 names were removed. Credit ratings were changed during this period on more than 110,000 business concerns.

As one phase in revising credit ratings and keeping them up-to-date, every year the credit reporting agency writes to all the businesses who are listed in the Reference Book to request their year-end balance sheets.

Cushman says that this letter speeds up the flow and processing of some of the facts on which credit ratings are based.

The credit rating is one of the key factors in approving orders to ship or sell. The rating consists of two symbols. The first, a letter of the alphabet indicates the financial strength or tangible net worth of the business. The second symbol is a number. It reflects a composite appraisal of the background, operations, financial stability and payment record.

Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Eichinger have moved from Jones Prairie to Rockdale where Mr. Eichinger is employed with Alcoa.

Miss Susie Atkinson was a spend the day guest of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brown on Thursday.

White House Plans

Due '60 Hearing

During March

AUSTIN — With the date for the 1960 White House Conference for Children and Youth drawing nearer, the 124 delegates and members of the Governor's Committee are making final preparations to attend the Conference.

The Conference, to be held in Washington March 27 - April 2, will highlight the work and planning of a year, with the climax following, it is anticipated, in many advances for the children and youth in the United States of America.

More than 7,000 people are planning to attend the Conference and 500 international guests and National Committee members have been invited. It is hoped that the impact of this Conference will even excel that to the preceding conferences which have been held every 10 years since 1909.

Each conference has endeavored to pinpoint the generation's needs for its children and youth and out of each conference has come information which has been developed to benefit the youth.

This year's Conference will deal with "opportunities for children and youth to realize their full potential for a creative live in freedom and dignity."

Earle Announces Candidacy For Commissioner

J. B. Earle Rockdale, has authorized the following political announcement:

I am a candidate for the office of Commissioner of Precinct No. 3, which embraces Rockdale, Milano and Gause.

I came to Rockdale in 1929 with the company paving the city streets, and I have called it home ever since. I continued with heavy construction and road work in all parts of our Nation until about two years ago. For the last two years I have lived continuously in Rockdale. Since February of 1959, I have been employed by the City of Cameron as their Engineer and Superintendent of Public Works, commuting back and forth daily from Rockdale.

In keeping with Democratic thinking I believe in rotating public offices. Also, I believe that my years of experience in road building, and similar heavy construction could help me improve existing conditions of our rural roads.

If I am elected I will endeavor to devote all my time in the interest of the people of our Precinct and their local conditions, maintain a high standard of workmanship, keep our equipment in the best of repairs, and to promote and encourage business enterprises in our community.

I have discussed my candidacy with the mayor and City Council of Cameron and have agreed to maintain the present program of work scheduled for the public work department of the City of Cameron.

I will execute my duties as an employee of the City of Cameron to the utmost of my abilities and will most assuredly work just as hard on city public works activities as in the past. In the event of my election to the post of county commissioner, Precinct No. 3, I would resign my city position effective January 1, 1961.

I hope to meet each and everyone in the Precinct before election time, May 7th. I thank all my friends who have asked me to become a candidate, and I appreciate their interest in this important office.

Sincerely yours
J. B. Earle

View On Sports

By ROBERT MANN

With the construction of a new bowling alley well on it's way, Cameron will advance another step in their recreation facilities. The alley will not only give Cameron teen - agers a pleasant pastime, but will add to the recreation for adults.

At present a bowling sensation has taken Cameron by sweep and shows no signs of letting up. For the youngsters it all started about a year ago when a certain group of high school boys decided to take in the sport.

Gradually the thing caught on and non - bowlers in Yoe High are getting scarce.

There's always been more bowling activity from the adult viewpoint but it seems to have grown stronger in the past couple of months as league competition is getting rougher, it takes a good bowler to do well in the actual competitive action.

The coming summer could be an industrious one with the construction of a new baseball diamond now in process.

Chain length fence has been laid out over the entire field and stands for the spectators have

Farmers Must File Estimates By Jan. 15, IRS Official Says

Farmers have until Friday, January 15, to file their estimated Federal income tax return for the year 1959, unless they plan to file their final return on or before February 15, A. P. Andrews Administrative Officer of Internal Revenue at Temple said today.

He pointed out that farmers who file an estimated return on January 15 and pay the tax due have until April 15 to file a final return and pay any balance of tax due. Otherwise, he said, the law requires they file their final return and pay the full amount of the tax due by February 15.

This option is available to farmers only. The tax law defines a farmer as one who derives two-thirds or more of his gross income from farming.

He advised farmers that if they filed a Federal income tax return last year, the necessary forms for 1959 will be mailed to them. For those who did not file, or for some other reason do not receive forms in the mail, blank forms may be obtained from the nearest Internal Revenue Service office or from local post offices or banks.
